Conquering Fear Is Chief Difficulty of Women In Learning To Swim, Instructor Of Y Class Says

Fair Sex Said To Lack the Confidence Typical of Men and Boys

BY HALLIE HOLCK
Marion Star Staff Writer

"Oh, Mother may I go out to swim."

Yes, my darling daughter, but hang your clothes on a hickory limb.

And don't go near the water."

By the last of August there will be at least 20 young women in Marion who won't even bother to ask permission from Mother before they dive into the water. They'll just jump up the half-yard of Jersey that goes into the making of these new custom-made bathing suits, though their way to the popular bathing resort north of town and collect blistered, burning backs.

Several weeks ago, Mrs. W. E. Howe, 273 West Columbia st., senior Red Cross life saving guard, and instructor, organized a class for swimming instructions for junior and senior feminine pupils.

Her youngest pupils are second grade students and the oldest are—well, you can't tell with bathing caps covering their hair and not much of their figures emerging from the Y. M. C. A. pool where the classes are taught.

Chief Obstacle
Conquering fear is the first and most important factor in teaching people to swim, and especially women, Mrs. Howe said while talking of her charges.

"Women," and this will go over long with the men and boys, "lack the confidence in learning to swim, that boys and men have," she explained. Every woman has a pet excuse for her fear. Her boy-friend or her husband dived over her at one time, a canoe turned over, etc., endless reasons why they can't learn to swim in two lessons.

The worth grandstand seat prices to be allowed to watch the antics of about 20 women in a pool of water the size of that at the Y.

Giggling, they go to the dressing room, emerge in bathing suits that must surely have been inspired by St. Vitus in his maddest moments, and with mingling sobs and little dithers as their feet touch the cold cement.

HAWKS TO HOP OFF THURSDAY FOR WEST

Flies from St. Louis to New York in Six and One-Half Hours

ROOSEVELT, June 28—N. Y., June 28—Frank M. Hawks, who completed a non-stop flight from East St. Louis to Roosevelt field yesterday in six and one-half hours in a Lockheed airplane, plans to take off at 11 a. m. tomorrow on a non-stop transcontinental flight to Los Angeles, and then to make the return trip here again.

His plane is the Tri-motor No. 5, the same with which he established the present west-to-east transcontinental record of 18 hours 25 minutes last February. He is accompanied by Peter Chursen, his mechanic.

Hawks said that when he arrives in Los Angeles he expects to have his trunk refilled and the ship checked, and then to start back immediately for New York without getting any sleep. He hopes to make the round trip in 36 hours, he said. He will follow the great circle course across the country in both directions.

The present east to west record is 21 hours and 50 minutes, made by the late C. B. Collier and the late Harry Tucker.

Van Deine To Leave for South Saturday

Retirement of A. F. Van Deine as president and general manager of the C. D. & M. Electric Co. will take him out of Marion for the time being, he said today. He will leave Marion Saturday to temporarily make his home at Orlando, Fla. He is not planning any future work at this time.

W. P. Mohrman will succeed Mr. Van Deine as president of the company on Monday. L. C. Stang, superintendent of the electric department, will become vice president and general manager at that time.

Higher Temperature Listed for Thursday

Somewhat warmer weather is the official prediction for Thursday although it is not expected to reach an unusually high temperature mark. Tonight will be partly cloudy and also Thursday but no showers are expected.

Yesterday saw a high mark of 85 degrees, which is 18 degrees higher than the mark of a year ago when only 67 was recorded. However, a low mark of 52 was recorded last night, this being two degrees lower than a year ago when a 54 degree low mark was reported.

Feminine Pupils, of Various Ages, Attired in Latest Aquatic Costumes are taken as a class. Not more than 20 can be registered in a class, and Monday night, the occasion of this visit, Mrs. Howe was making a schedule for two classes on each of the nights she teaches.

Mrs. Howe taught two years at the Y. W. C. A. in Springfield, and then attended Miami university, where she graduated with a B. S. degree. After that she was in Y. W. C. A. work in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Passes Tests
Three years ago she passed the senior Red Cross life saving test at Crystal Lake park and her examiners' test, at the same time.

So far, none of her pupils has been a spectacular swimmer, but all of them have showed splendid normal progress, their teacher said Monday night.

And the class continues, with a 25 of pleasure, as one of the Aquatic Kolermans-to-be, masters a four arm stroke. When they all get the notion to try their stuff at once, the pool is a maelstrom of kicking, splashing feet and breathless gurgles as some aspirant sinks to the bottom.

Orange and green are a striking color combination at any time, but when combined in a two-inch black pattern on an overstuffed model, the pool breaks into wild, wild waves. But this same student swimmer had more nerve than many of the others in the pool, and nothing daunted her stout heart.

With the exception of two or three plain caps, and one dashing white creation with black rubber designs, most of the women wore helmet caps that fasten under the chin.

Code of Instructions
"In through the mouth, out through the nose. Now, girls, try it all together. Began. Take deep breaths and don't be afraid of getting your faces wet," Mrs. Howe instructs her classes.

Such gurgles and bubbles. Nose, mouth and eyes full of water. Some of them give up in despair. They just can't help taking a long breath through their noses when the cold water strikes their faces.

Then the student is told to let go the red around the pool and if they can breathe the way they've been instructed, to try and float.

"Let your body relax and use your feet. Keep your hands close together. Work from the hips and don't bend the knees. Try a flutter kick. Now do a dead man's float across the pool several times."

Mrs. Howe has a system in teaching swimming that seems to be quite successful from the standpoint of the progress made by her students.

By the end of August, if the women are normal students, they should be able to do a fundamental backstroke, side stroke, crawl and do elementary diving. The class meets on Monday and Tuesday nights from 7:15 to 8:15. In the morning from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock the younger girls

"SAY it with flowers," and these flowers evidently said, "Get up, Rosalie!" and it gives us a chance to examine Rosalie's new pajamas before she dresses to go after Penelope, who she promised to take in her airplane to see a golf tournament at a rather distant country club. She nearly overslept, so the morning lamp served a good purpose.

The pajamas, to return to our subject, resemble a one-piece overall. The striped bib is a part of the tuck-in jumper, and the shoulder straps are buttoned to the front of the jumper. Blue and white broadcloth is combined with blue broadcloth. These pajamas can also be had in pongee, with red polka dot trousers, and monogram tuck in jumper trimmed to match the trousers.

EXPECT REDUCTION IN COST ESTIMATE

Tabulation of Bids Indicate $25,000 Cut in City Improvement Expense

An improvement program embodying street, sewer and sidewalk work is expected to cost the city and bondholders approximately $25,000 less than a note issue of $115,000 to cover the work, city officials estimated today. This statement was made following the tabulation of bids for the work submitted Friday by contractors.

Changes are being made by council in ordinances providing for the $115,000 issue in order to cooperate with city banks, which agreed to buy the notes after efforts to dispose of them to outside financial houses was unsuccessful. The notes will probably be taken up by an issue of bonds within six months instead of the year and three-month period specified in the original ordinance. This change is being made at the request of the banks.

Council will meet in a special session tonight to pass on the changes in the ordinance, which were being made yesterday by City Solicitor G. T. Geran. An ordinance for a $12,000 note issue for curbs and a hangar on the municipal airport, which was a part of the $150,000 program the banks agreed to finance, was taken care of at Monday night's meeting of city council.

The ordinances in which changes are expected tonight relate to construction of new pavement, sewers, and widening of East Center st. from Main st. to Baker st., and to paving sewer and sidewalk jobs on several other Marion streets.

U. S. GIVES NO HOPE FOR WAR DEBTS CUT

Hoover, Morgan and Young See Nothing That Calls for Policy Alteration

Reed today of Senator Reed (Republican) of Pennsylvania, who usually sits for the treasury in the senate.

I see no reason, Reed said, why we should assume the responsibility for all the debts that Europe has incurred in between 1914 and 1917 just because we entered the war near the end of that period. The effect of placing the burden of these debts on the American taxpayer, I have been told, will be seriously opposed to reduction.

SAID L. S. GENEVIEUX

Similar comment came from Senator Morgan of Indiana, the Republican leader and Senator Young, Republican of Utah, who is a member of the commission that funded the debts.

I think Mr. Stimson was talking for home consumption, said Watson, rather than seriously suggesting a cutting of the debt. I am not in favor of any downward revision and neither is the American taxpayer.

The United States was extremely generous in those settlements, said Morgan, and I see no reason for any reduction.

At the same time, there will be no opposition on my part at least to the proposition of granting Germany a 10 per cent reduction in the American claim for World War occupation costs. This amounts roughly to some $27,000,000. But on the other side, Washington is a winner.

The plane was on its seventy-second lap over its 80-mile triangular course between Minneapolis, Northfield and Hastings and had covered a distance of 760 miles, the difference having been lost in refueling.

SLIDING SCALE ON SUGAR TARIFF UP

Hoover Administration Takes Cognizance of 'Housewife Rebellion'

WASHINGTON, June 26—Taking cognizance of the housewife rebellion against high sugar tariffs, the Hoover administration now has under consideration a new sliding scale of tariff rates on sugar which is described as fair to the consumer and very good adequate protection to the domestic sugar industry.

A White House official reported as follows a revision of the high tariff rate of $3.00 a hundred pounds, adopted by the House in 1917.

The president probably will be asked to approve the new schedule before Smoot submits it to the committee of which he is chairman. Its adoption by the senate will be a foregone conclusion at the present and Smoot agrees upon the proposed schedule. The adoption of a tariff rate under any circumstances would be the lowest tariff on sugar since the memory of tariff experts.

French Consul Fired on by Demented Woman

REHARD, June 26—M. Rene Buer, French consul at Berlin, narrowly escaped death today at the hands of a woman believed to be demented who fired two shots at the diplomat in his office here.

The woman is Agathe Makroff, a Lithuanian, who claimed to have lost a leg as the result of an accident in Paris. She demanded compensation from Buer, and when he refused, she asked a pistol at him and fired twice.

A janitor who was in the room at the time saved Buer's life by seizing the woman's arm and diverting her aim. The woman, who had just arrived in Berlin from Paris, was placed under arrest.

YOUTH BURNED TO DEATH IN CRASH

Car in Which Kenneth Underwood Is Passenger Catches Fire After Collision

BOWLING GREEN, June 26—Kenneth Underwood, 35, of Bowling Green, was burned to death today when the car in which he was riding struck a double truck which had been in another accident at three hours prior to the fatal crash.

The car in which Underwood was a passenger immediately caught fire and the flames spread to the truck which was heavily loaded with oil and paint. Loss of more than $10,000 was incurred.

J. T. Hamilton, Detroit, was driver of the truck which had been levelled in C. S. Hall, Detroit, by the Central Transport Co. of the Michigan city. Hall was riding in the truck.

Hamilton, a Bowling Green youth driving a large sedan, crashed into the rear of the truck about midnight. The rear end of the transport and Perry's automobile were badly wrecked.

All three were burned. It was just three hours later that the car in which Underwood was riding, rolled with the wrecked. A cousin of Underwood, whose name was not learned, was driving the death car. He made heroic efforts to rescue Underwood and was burned in the attempt when he pushed back to the car after being thrown clear by the impact. The two were returning from a job in the city.

KILLS MAN BECAUSE HE HAD NO MONEY

Bandit Becomes Enraged When Victim Leaves Pocketbook at Home

CLEVELAND, June 26—Enraged because his victim had left his pocketbook at home, a bandit shot and killed David Wagner, 7, a real estate dealer, today in a random street shooting.

Wagner lived alone. He had just left the office for a family errand before returning and had taken with him only a small amount of change.

Just as Wagner was preparing to enter the lot he entered and stepped in to know how much money Wagner had with him.

You won't find me any more on my Wagner pool, I told my purse at home.

He barely had finished speaking when a bullet from the bandit's gun pierced his heart. The bandit then pulled the cash register, a $70 and $11 after ordering Mr. Wagner and his daughter to lie on the floor.

Wagner died on the way to the hospital. Police, after several hours of search for the killer but several hours later had arrested no one.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON FINANCE PROGRAM

Final Changes in Note Ordinances Expected at Meeting Tonight

City council is expected tonight to make final changes in note ordinances for Marion street improvement in cooperation with an agreement with the city of the city whereby it will purchase a tract of land which will be used for a market.

When the banks actually agreed to handle the financing program, they requested that the note be taken up by an issue of notes by Jan. 1, 1940, or within six months. Instead of the year and three months period specified in the original ordinance. The first ordinance were drawn with the intention of dropping of the notes to outside financial houses.

Action on the part of the council tonight is expected to remove the notes and to adjust the ordinance to the local banking plan. With the requested change made, the banks will probably submit bids to purchase the notes some time this week.

At present the city board of control is holding the award of contracts for various street jobs on the actual sale of the notes to the city banks. Contracts have not been let as the law provides that money for the work must be on hand before this is done. When the final proposal of the banks to purchase the notes is made, and the sale of notes is awarded them by city officials, the contracts will be let.

It is reported that tentative aside for several jobs were decided on at a meeting of the board of control last night.

The delegates to the convention voted down a petition, which would have given financial aid to Cedarville college.

Attacks of an organization, headed by Carl Richards, Cumberland, Maryland, alumnus of Wooster college, charging that the school here was showing a "trend toward modernism" were answered by resolutions and a vote of confidence given to Charles F. Wishart, president of the college.

COLUMBUS, June 26—Colonel Lindy and Anne Lindy, who are closely guarded against publicity, and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the world's first solo pilot, were here today to inspect the proposed air-rail transcontinental route to be built by the Chicago and North Western.

Colonel Lindbergh and his wife, the former Miss Anna Marie Lindbergh, left for Columbus here just as day was setting, last night.

The Colonel is making a final survey of the proposed air-rail transcontinental route of which Columbus is the eastern terminus, and is taking the first in short hops and in a leisurely manner.

Mrs. Reed charged cross and asked and finally received her divorce from the court.

Mrs. Reed was granted custody of $70 a month for three months.

Big City Hopes of Pittsburgh Take Fall

PITTSBURGH, June 26—Hopes of Pittsburgh becoming the fourth largest city in the country in population and the third in the world in area were dashed today.

Counting of vote in the special election yesterday on the question of absorbing entire Allegheny county showed that the metropolitan charter plan failed by a vote of 10,000 in the boroughs and suburbs.

The measure would have ended the city next to New York, Chicago and Philadelphia in population.

Harry Parker, 41, of 112 Lee ave., was taken to Dayton, Ohio, today to be in custody of a woman, but he was in Judge William R. Martin in the municipal court when Parker pleaded guilty to a charge of non-support.

An affidavit for the arrest of Parker was filed by the woman's sister, charging he neglected to provide for the child, one of which was a 14-year-old. He was arrested Monday.

Daily Proverb—"Attempt not to fly like A Chicago man laughed so hard at a joke told by a friend that he dropped dead. Who ever imagined that old Joe Miller's joke book would become a menace to human life?

Who dares say we Americans are lacking in initiative and resourcefulness? A New Yorker attempted to saw off one of his wife's legs to prevent her following him every time he went "down town."

The Yale professor, who would not promise to "defend the United States against its enemies," has been refused citizenship, which is as it should be. We have far too many native white-livered citizens. Save us from the adoption of any!

We are inclined to agree with Gene Tunney that he never damaged the heart of that Texas grass widow with a husky young son to the extent of $500,000, but little attentions such as he is receiving in a legal way are the almost inevitable fate of notables in this day and age, particularly those of means.

Abdullah Terry, who started last season in Rio Rita reports having been robbed of nocence we assumed that the stage stars had entirely abandoned that particular form of publicity!

Reports from Calcutta are to the effect that Jinnabul Khan, the former water boss, has suffered a heavy reverse at the hands of Nadir Khan, former vice minister of Affghanisthan, and is suing for peace. There must be almost as great prejudice against water people over in Afghanistan as there is in some circles over here.

Walter H. Bills, former attorney general of this state, advocates the withholding of federal dry enforcement appropriations from violating wet states and communities and applying them to the moderately dry as a means of bringing about either the repeal of the eighteenth amendment or better enforcement of the Volstead act. In a word, Walter believes in separating the sheep and the goats, or, perhaps it would be better to say the goats and the sheep.

Getting the Cart Before the Horse.

Congress adjourned for summer recess with a final discussion of prohibition enforcement in which President Hoover was criticized for his appointment of a general law investigation committee whose work will require years of research instead of a prohibition commission which presumably would work swiftly.

Among the leaders of this criticism were Senators Carter Glass, of Virginia, and Joe T.
Robinson, of Arkansas, both Democratic dyas, who were particularly interested in the proposal to name a congressional committee to consider a departmental transfer of enforcement activities. Senator Harry B. Hawes, of Missouri, a Democratic vet, also took a parting dig at President Hoover by criticizing his action in naming a general law commission and "dodging" the immediate problem of prohibition enforcement.

It was revealed in the discussion that it was not the original purpose of the legislators who backed the bill for the commission appropriation to include anything in the scope of its activities other than prohibition and its enforcement. The phrase "and other law," crept into the wording accidentally, and it is charged that the president has neglected prohibition almost entirely.

Senator Wesley Jones, of Washington, who defended the administration's action, requested that the president be given more time before his seeming lack of action is criticized.
Senator Jones sought to convince his fellow-legislators that great things are not done overnight and that it is silly of them to expect everything to be corrected by a pass of the hand.

It would seem that the originators of the bill which created the commission made the mistake of placing the cart before the horse.
They assumed that the biggest question in the country was apparent failure of the prohibition amendment to function. It was their wish that all the power of the government be directed to correction of that failure. President Hoover detected something more significant in the whole thing than the unlawful thirst of the citizens of the country. To him, prohibition was not a cause, but a result. It was a question whose solution depended upon the solution of a greater question—widespread disrespect for law, or in his words, "a subsidence of foundations." Without seeking the permission of the powers that be, he moved the horse around to its proper place, and started operations. While worthy senators may appreciate the fact that the horse has precedence over the cart in cases of common sense, they insist that more can be done by a reversal of the usual form in the case of prohibition.

To Kill That Immunity Clause.

From Washington comes the announcement that Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, is planning to propose at the next session of congress an amendment to the constitution of the United States which will, if it becomes a part of the basic law of the land, strip from members of congress immunity from prosecution for utterances made by them on the floors of the senate and house.

The Washington wire telling the story reads "immunity from prosecution for libel," but a reading of the text of the senator's announcement shows that his proposal is far broader than that; that it embraces slander as well, for many utterances made on the floors of the United States senate and house are not committed to writing or to print, to marble or to bronze, nor to any other form which would bring them within the category of libels.

In making the announcement to the press, Senator Bingham recited the well-known fact that much harm is often done by untrue statements, utterly without foundation of fact, made upon the floors of the house and senate, where those uttering them are protected by the constitutional clause providing that "any speech or debate in either house shall not be questioned in any other place."

"If this immunity were taken away," Senator Bingham asserted, "many attacks upon private citizens, corporations, religious sects and churches would never be heard." It is intimated that the recent liberalization of the senate rules to permit discussion of executive nominations in open session is seen by the Connecticut senator as an urgent reason for repealing the remarks of his colleagues. No matter what the reason, his proposal is an excellent one. The shameful utterances made in congress, especially in the upper house, have been matters of reproach and disgrace to the nation. Neither the living nor the dead, neither the high nor the low, neither those in official nor those in private life, have been spared. The senate floor has been the scene of utterances of venom and attacks as base, vicious and cowardly as they have been untrue.

We have never been overly enthusiastic regarding the amending of the federal constitution, but this is one we would gladly champion were it ever put before the electorate of the land. We do not thus stipulate for the reason that we feel this particular proposition should be submitted to the voters of the land, but because, as we have so often set out in these columns, it is our belief that every amendment to the constitution should be submitted for approval to the popular vote. Were it possible to get congress to legislate for the submission of the proposal to the voters, we haven't a doubt but what it would be ratified by them and become a part of the law of the land, for we believe that today, as never before, the people of the United States are heartily sick and disgusted with some of the practices and abuses which have done so much to lower the senate from the high place it once held in public esteem.

Ever since reading the statement of Mayor Walker, of New York City, that his "idea of a birthday is to work so hard you don't realize it in your birthday," we've been wondering how many of his birthdays he has passed unknowingly.

Dr. William Garrison Nye, a retired physician of New York City, has been sued by a young woman of twenty-two for $500,000 damages for alleged breach of promise. As he is married, she simply can not take Nye as an answer.

A special thirty-minute service beginning at 8 o'clock is to be held every Sunday morning in a Chicago Presbyterian church for the benefit of golfers. Are we to assume that a service so restricted in length will be sufficient to fortify a golfer for eighteen holes of hard luck?

Bishop Cannon is said to have been a favored client of the defunct bucket shop firm of Kable & Company. As the bishop lost the $2,500 he put in, one naturally wonders what would have happened to him had he not been a favored patron.

It can not be charged that Mrs. Maybelle Gillman Carey was inconsistent in becoming so tired of the wrangling over the terms of the contract, looking to her marriage to Prince Luis de Bourbon that she has abandoned the project. In Maybelle's previous experience with a matrimonial contract, the money was to go the other way.

A patrol of the casino in Central park, $36 check for a dinner party of six, when he refused to pay an additional cover charge of a bottle of White Rock at two dollars. As we out here in the Middle West see it, the $18 cover charge was far too mild a penalty for one foolish enough to patronize such a center of snobbery to pay

DOWN WITH THE MOON.
I can not bear to watch the moon Without a wish to drag her down; I'd like to know the mystery Of one so pure, her smiling frown.
I disappear her hind foot, A willing slave to another earth, Her cold indifference, her scorn For men, her chilling silver mirth.
Does she not know the romance old Of rosy lips, the strange desire Of scented words, of kismet winds—Is she amused at love's desire?
What if I tried to drag her down, Embuing her with a passion red,
At peering range, would her clear glance Be fatal as Medusa's head?
No matter! I shall some night bear Her to my cave, by ancient guide, And there I'll break her to my will And watch her lips forget to smile.

Focal Infection.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Recently I read a most interesting discussion regarding the amending of the federal constitution. It was written by a man who has made an intensive study of this complaint.
This article took up in detail some of the more common causes of this ailment.

The average person looks on backache as a disease. It is not—it is a symptom. In some cases it may be merely the result of fatigue or overwork. As a rule it is a warning that there is an underlying condition which is responsible for the symptom.

The doctor who intelligently discusses backache classifies the causes. First on the list are those due to focal infection. This includes the teeth, tonsils, sinuses and intestines. An infection in any one of these centers might be accompanied by pain in the joints and muscles. It might cause backache.

Second come those cases due to some disease of the abdominal organs. Gall bladder trouble, some infection of the kidneys, kidney stones, gravel, appendicitis, and uterine disturbances, displacement, could all come under this heading.
Many cases of backache are of nervous origin.
It may be a passing sign of a disturbed nervous system.

Orthopedic conditions such as flat feet, fallen arches, misplaced vertebrae, strained ligaments, will naturally result in backache. This form of discomfort is merely a reflex.

In women the most common cause of backache is some disorder of the pelvic organs. It is just to find out what is wrong.

The efficiency of the system, whether a man or a woman, is sure to be lessened if persistent backache disturbs the happiness and vigor. The constant nagging, down bending, twisting, aching pain is intolerable. No wonder loss of good nature and positive irritability are the natural accompaniments of this distressing symptom.

But, as you see, there are so many possible causes for backache that it isn't easy to get rid of it. But in order to do it will be necessary to study the case very carefully to locate the trouble.
If you do not and the cause at once be discouraged. There is a cause, of course, and patient search will find it.

Editorial Opinion.

MONEY IN THE BANK.

Uncle Sam will wind up his fiscal year's business June 30 with a surplus largely in excess of the $100,000,000 recently predicted by President Hoover.

The amount of the surplus yet to be made by income tax payments yet to be made. It may reach $200,000,000 and even more.

Early in the year a deficit was feared. President Coolidge in the closing months of his administration warned congress and the executive departments that expenditures must be kept at a minimum if the national ledger was to be made to balance.

Government receipts this year to date have been $3,571,821,131 compared with $3,517,007,719 last year.

Income tax payments have amounted to $2,213,- 311,970 to date, compared with $2,037,310,180 last year. This is an increase of nearly $200,000,000 and is chiefly responsible for the good showing the treasury will make.

The income tax payments were much larger than had been anticipated in treasury calculations.

It should be noted that expenses also have increased. Ordinary expenditures to date have been $3,140,411,020, compared with $4,022,000,531 for the corresponding period last year. It is likely that the $15,000,000 will be paid the railroads before June 30 in satisfaction of claims for carrying mail, which congress has approved, increasing the excess.

The increased expenditures follow the tendency of recent years. The cost of government has been steadily mounting. It is agreed the tendency will continue.

It is therefore well to realize that this year's surplus does not mean that a tax cut is in prospect, or that the government is warranted in embarking in large expenditures which might be avoided.

The big income tax payments are attributed by the treasury largely to profits made on speculative activities in the stock market during the calendar year 1928. This was an abnormal situation, and does not represent a solid source of income.

Moreover, the government is committed to large unusual expenditures in the next few years. These include the flood control program, naval building, the huge public building program, and other projects. Farm relief, for instance, will get its appropriation of $150,000,000 early in the new fiscal year, and an eventual appropriation of half a billion.

So our satisfaction at the excellent condition of our national finances should not relax the determination to keep federal expenditures at the lowest possible point. After all, the absorption of $1,000,000,000 a year out of our national income of $85,000,000,000 is a sizeable share.— Columbus Clendenen.

"HIGHLY UNUSUAL."

Soon after Senator Borah had read the speech of Ambassador Davies, and found it inadequate and disappointing, he went off to consult the British ambassador in Washington. This activity of his seems to have "displeased" the White House.

At any rate, strong intimations came from it yesterday to that effect. The statement was made that it was "highly unusual" for a senator of the United States to go to a foreign diplomat in order to discuss the conduct of international affairs.

No blame is attached to Sir Esmé Howard, so far as is known, for receiving Mr. Borah. Perhaps he did not understand that the senator was making anything more than a friendly call of farewell, and if he found that the object of the visit was to instruct the British government about naval strength, international law, freedom of the seas and the proper kind of agreement to make with the United States, it is not easy to see how the ambassador could have stopped the flow of the senator's discourse.

Why the White House should have been surprised or displeased it is difficult to understand.
For an ordinary man to have done what Mr.
Borah did would have been, indeed, irregular, but the Idaho senator is himself highly unusual, and so may do highly unusual things. He might be excused for thinking of himself now as a coordinate branch of the government. Ambassadors do not, as yet, present their credentials to him in person, but that may come later. To be sure, there is on the statute book of the United States a most odd law forbidding a citizen to go behind the back of his government and endeavor to conduct negotiations with a foreign government. But the authors of this law act could never have foreseen the emergence of such a figure as Senator Borah, with whom omniscience is a foible, and with whom other nations can refuse to do business only at their own peril. — New York Times, June 22.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Educators from twenty-one nations of North and South America assembled in Atlanta to talk about education. This is an age of the more important. If international understanding and fellowship can not be promoted by education, what good is education? The sessions of a conference of this sort, to talk about young people and schools, may be of more importance to the generation to come than the session of the League of Nations.

The temptation to shock, to be conspicuous, to be spectacular, to be dramatic, is the chief temptation of public speakers and writers. Many are willing to sacrifice truth for the sake of being noticed. It is better to deal in commonplaces and be accurate than to deal in shocking or dramatic statements, and miss the truth.

A discovery that every man ought to make some time in life—the earlier the better—is that in his most cherished ideas and opinions he may be wrong. Some men never make the discovery. They are hard to deal with.
Sooner or later they make costly mistakes.
From the day you discover you may be wrong and admit the discovery, your judgment is likely to improve.

Back in the eighties typhoid became so thick in one of the districts of Asia that the natives could no longer hold their own against the beasts. They gave up and fled to an island nearby for security. Scientists tell us that man must keep up an incessant warfare against the insects or the insects will finally win and man lose. The so-called lower forms of life, pitting their sure and powerful instincts against man's limited capacity for deliberate thinking, present a formidable front. It takes all man's ingenuity to keep ahead in the constant warfare.

A Harvard professor once remarked that when he was feeling optimistic he believed man might some day be as smart as the bee or the ant. Most of the time he thought man was outclassed.

Think this over. This is the day of the graduate. Every year more men and women come out of prison in this country than are graduated from colleges and universities.

Louis Gottschalk—Composer.

BY COZZITTI DOUGLASS.

It has been said of Louis Gottschalk that he was the first really great American artist.
Born in New Orleans on May 8, 1829, the son of an Englishman and a Creole, descendant of a noble French family, from his birth Gottschalk was a remarkably precocious child and gave early evidence of the great musical talent which later developed into genius. He passed his earliest years in a wild, semi-tropical spot on the shores of the Gulf of Mexico, and this environment shows plainly its influence on the sensitive child's mind in his later compositions.

After his father had been given numerous evidences of the child's talent, he returned to the city where Louis could be placed under competent instruction. Gottschalk's first teacher was an organist at the cathedral. So rapid was the boy's progress, that at the age of ten he gave a concert. It was a great triumph, and the story is told that at the end of the concert when he was presented with a huge bouquet of roses, he turned to the box where his mother was seated and screamed: "Mother, it is for you."

When he was thirteen Gottschalk was sent to Paris. His first teacher there was Hal-l6, but was later replaced by Camille Stamaty.

One of his greatest admirers was Chopin, who on one occasion predicted that Gottschalk would become "the king of pianists."

During his concert tour of Switzerland, France and Spain, Gottschalk was the recipient of the highest honors which these countries could bestow. His critics were loud in their acclaim of the young American.

His return to the United States was marked by a series of triumphs. On his father's death, it was found that the estate was practically nothing, which proved a boon to the public, inasmuch as Gottschalk made many concert tours and redoubled his efforts in composition.

Gottschalk's compositions bear all the traces of that original vein which so distinguished his efforts. One critic exclaimed on first hearing some of Gottschalk's music:
"There you have the poetry of a tropical climate."

In 1855, Gottschalk went to South America, and while playing at a concert in Rio de Janeiro, fell from the piano and was carried to his hotel. He died in Rio on December 18, 1859, but his body was brought to the States and is buried in Brooklyn.

FIVE QUESTIONED IN MARLOW MURDER

Automobile Seized by Police; Believed To Have Been
Death Machine

NEW YORK, June 26—Held as witnesses, five friends of Frank Marlow, slain Broadway boxer, were questioned at police stations today while 50 picked up and searched for clues in the murder mystery.

The five were Johnny Wilson, former lightweight boxing champion, and the management of Marlow;

Al Sord, Broadway dancer; Edward Lewis of Boston, "Mickey" Seiden, a show girl formerly employed in one of Marlow's night clubs, and Ignazio Corpa, owner of the La Taurine restaurant on 33rd st., where Marlow took his last meal early Monday evening. Wilson and Miss Seiden were his companions at the dinner.
Police seized Corpa's automobile and announced early today that they believed it was the machine in which Marlow was "taken for a ride" by the murderers who threw his bullet-riddled body into a clump of bushes near a ceaseless in Flushing, a Long Island suburb.

Corpa, however, vehemently denied that his car was the machine used on the grim errand, and police admitted that no bloodstains were found on the automobile.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

Epworth Seniors 5, Epworth Juniors 3

BY BOB ELLIOTT
THEY say a surprise team can't last forever and Trinity Baptists proved the veracity of that saying, by proceeding, to lose to Central Christians 11 to 2 yesterday in the final and worst of Sunday School League No. 2. The Baptists had previously won four straight games and their defeat last night showed them into fourth place and practically out of the championship run.

Christmas by virtue of their victory went into third place, with four games won and two lost. If they win their postponed game with Epworth Juniors they must be considered a factor in the championship race.

There was nothing to the game except the return to form of a solid team and the collapse of a team that had been playing over its head. The winners scored in every inning but the sixth while the losers failed to get to Hank until the sixth when their two runs were scored.

Epworth No. 1 stayed one game behind the prize, Calvary, when by defeating St. Mary's 3 to 1 the Saints were held to three hits by the Snyder two of them coming in the first inning, when they scored their run. The winners collected only four hits off Gunder but all of them in the last four frames when they did their scoring.

Calvary, the top champions for the past couple of years and well on their way to a third flag, played a conservative game while settling back Wesley, 4 to 1. The losers could do nothing off Jesse with Rube Gunder and he coasted into his seventh consecutive win. It was Wesley's seventh loss in even games although nearly all of them have been in close scores. Gunders had a shut out until the seventh when Markum crossed the plate.

Epworth Seniors were back in the hot line, to move out the Epworth Juniors 5 to 3. Each team had four errors, not counting the mental ones. The losers got to Rube Hill in the first inning, for a run and collected two more in the second but failed to do anything after that. Seniors' right fielder drove in the winning run with his third hit while Sammy Shrick scored the fifth when Bill Lowe went to sleep on second base. The defeat eliminated the Juniors from any chance at the championship.

Adamantine Paulino Chin Appears To Have Made Him Slight Favorite

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, June 26.—Nobody has the faintest idea which of two things is going to land first—Schmeling's punch on the chin or Paulino's chin on the floor—when they meet tomorrow night. The two men seem to be betting it one way or the other. Today while Paulino and Schmeling, their work done, lay to out with the last 24 hours before what Paulino calls the battle of the century, Paulino and Schmeling, their work done, lay to out with the last 24 hours before what Paulino calls the battle of the century.

Jubilee's Pardner

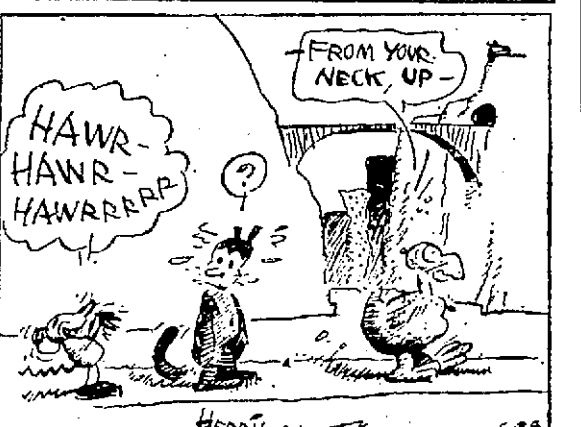

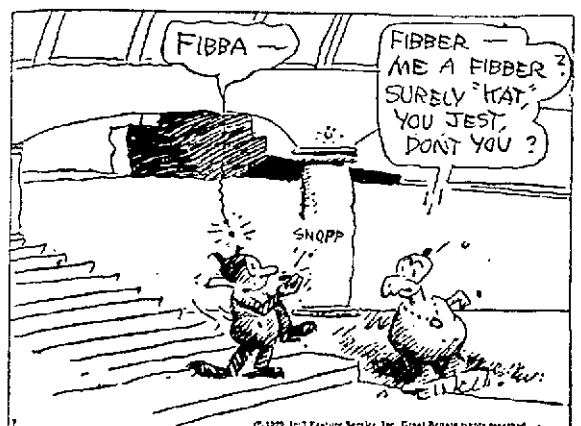

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

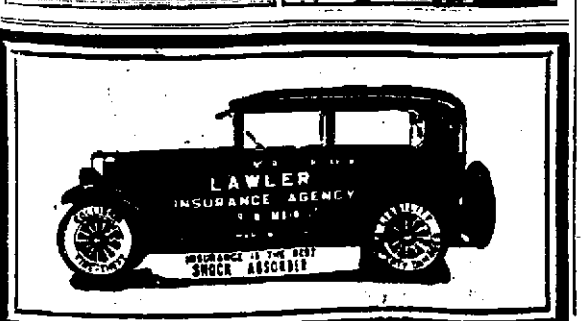

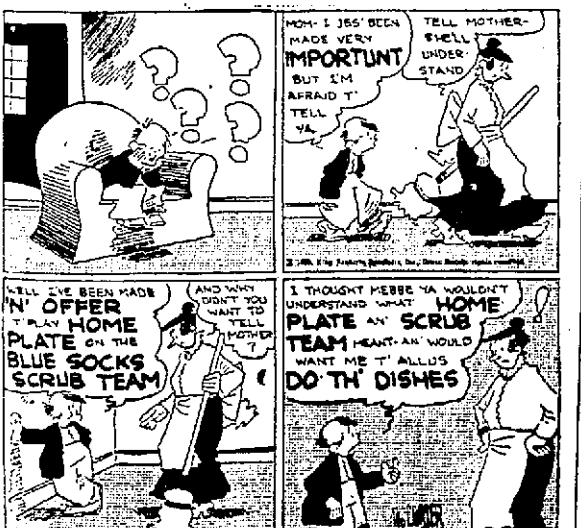

WHEN I woke up I must have been thinking of my uncle, Jubilee, because I was looking at him like he thought I was crazy in the head. My uncle said, "One thing more— and then the thing more came along and paid— Red said that when his father was clean out their cellar night before last and he found that rotten apple in an empty barrel he carried it to the very careful and put it where I could find it yesterday. He said he ran it over to the barn and put it in the feed-box as tender as he could because it was about the ripest apple he had ever seen. He was going out of the door for me and was going to let me have it to paint the Lost Bag of Tripe, when the Lost Bag of Tripe saw me and he couldn't see who I was talking to, and he asked Red for the apple, so Red let him to take it, and when he let go and he saw my uncle's head come up and get it they all went out the pasture hole like smoke up a chimney, and they went up the alley laughing so hard they could hardly run. I had the half dollar in my pocket and told the Lost Bag of Tripe that if he done a few more things like that I would kiss him, and he said if he thought I meant it he would reform. He said if I kissed him everyone would get to calling him Yousie and when he said that I did give him a smuck; but it was with my hand.

Money talks; even hush money usually finds a voice, finally.
